SEPTEMBER 26th 2022

Manchester Beckons

Rob and Steve from TWICB are in Manchester later in the week to attend Indy Man Beer Con and visit a selection of the fantastic taprooms in the area.

Many consider Manchester to be the Mecca for Craft Beer in the UK, and we find it hard to argue against that. With Cloudwater, Track, Pomona Island, Squawk, Mobberley, Wander Beyond, Blackjack, Sureshot, Shindigger, Marble plus many other breweries and independent craft bars, it's hard not to get excited about our visit.

We've also arranged to record podcasts with Stef from Track Brewing Co. and Paul from Cloudwater Brew Co. so we are looking forward to that! We'll be wearing our distinctive black T shirts with our logo, so if you see us around please come and say hello.

Energy Support Package

Lots of Government news that impacts the hospitality sector this week, starting with the Energy support package for pubs that was announced on Wednesday. This should be a big help to viable businesses, but probably isn't enough to save the many "zombie" pubs that are destined to fail this winter.

Beer Duty Cut

Also announced on Friday as part of the new Chancellor's statement, was an extension to the draft beer duty cut to include 20l containers when it takes effect in Aug 2023 - which is great news for Craft Brewers, for whom this is often the preferred packaging size for hospitality. Duty rates are also being frozen across the board.

Finally, Roger Protz gives his thoughts on the "Drink Fresh Beer" Campaign, jointly launched by CAMRA and SIBA this week, in an attempt to broaden the appeal of cask beer to attract younger drinkers. As cask drinkers are currently 93% male and 71% over 50, this campaign is much needed!

Taproom Review

STEVE P
CO FOUNDER TWICB

Tilt, Birmingham

City Arcade, 2 Union St, Birmingham B2 4TX

The TWICB Team were out in force in Birmingham earlier this month to attend Beer Central (review in last week's Issue 133). However, before the festival started we enjoyed an hour or so in this fascinating little bar.

Called 'Tilt' for reasons that will become apparent, this neat craft beer bar is located in the main shopping area in Birmingham City Center, the perfect location to attract those tired of browsing the shops and in urgent need of refreshment.

'Tilt' has an array of 21 classic pinball machines, arranged in three areas on three floors. I've personally never played pinball while drinking craft beer at the same time but it looks an absolute blast.

Taproom Review

The main bar comprises of 18 keg taps, together with a well-stocked double fridge. There was an interesting selection of beers on the menu of which many were sours. Beers from Turning Point, Lost & Grounded, The Kernel, Elusive, Abbeydale, Alefarm, Full Circle, Yonder and Burley Oak were all well represented. Speciality coffee is also available.

The bar area was surprisingly spacious, with many tables available on the ground floor and a further room upstairs as well as in the basement. The volume set on the pinball machines was quite low so there wasn't a problem with background noise and the atmosphere was quite convivial.

18 craft keg taps and a well-stocked fridge keeps most punters happy.

Food was not available directly, but customers were welcome to bring their own along or have it delivered for consumption on the premises.

Tilt is open 7-days a week from 10am until late, and is certainly worth a visit.
