It's a good job the sun is shining, as there is very little good news to report apart from the weather. The latest CGA Tracker noted that sales at Britain's largest pub groups fell I% in May compared to 2019. When adjusted for inflation, this represents a decline of more like 20%.

Taproom Review

Left Handed Giant Brewpub

Hawkins Ln, Redcliffe, Finzels BSI 6EU

Although the TWICB Team were in Bristol last weekend for the Bristol Craft Beer Festival it would have been sacrilege not to avail ourselves of the delights of the Left Handed Giant Brewpub.

Located near the city centre and a IO-I5 minute stroll from Temple Meads station, the LHG Brewpub is an imposing sight overlooking the historic Bristol Harbour and connected to Castle Park by the wonderful Castle Bridge.

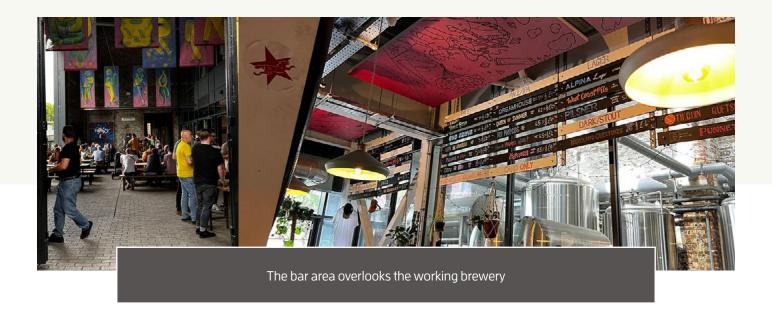

It was hot and sunny when we arrived on the Friday afternoon, and most tables by the river were already taken. There were plenty of drinkers basking in the heat and all in high spirits. I say outside but in reality the 'outdoor' space is covered by a very high ceiling which certainly helps during the unreliable British weather.

Taproom Review

We sat further inside, which is a vast open space with lots of wooden benches and tables. One side of the brew pub is all glass allowing a full view of the working brewery. The inside area is huge with an additional floor upstairs also overlooking the river. The premises is dog and children friendly, although no children allowed after 8pm.

The beer selection was impressive featuring a large selection of I4 LHG beers as fresh and as tasty as can be. There were also IO guest taps on offer, serving a selection of Tilquin beers together with a beer from Põhjala and Double Barrelled. We satisfied ourselves with 2/3rds of Dreamhouse and Citra & Amarillo from the LHG taps.

To complement the craft beers, delicious freshly cooked pizzas are available from Mission Pizza who occupy space next to the main bar.

We could have well stayed in the taproom all afternoon and evening but, reluctantly, we left after just a couple of beers to make our way. However we will definitely be back. If you are planning a visit to Bristol then you should definitely navigate your way here – you won't be disappointed.

The Brewpub is open 7 days a week - no booking necessary - just turn up.

EPISODE 113 - BREW BY NUMBERS

We are delighted to welcome to The Podcast, Tom Hutchins from Brew By Numbers, based in Greenwich.

Brew By Numbers was launched in December 2012, and lead the way for hazy East Coast pale ales in the UK, and are also seen as a pioneer on issues such as the importance of freshness in beer cold storage. They continue to be a major influence on taproom culture in London.

Aside from brewing amazing beer, Tom's passion is to promote a responsible link between beer and health, and it was great to catch up with him at the opening session of the BBNo Riverside Festival for an update.
