OCTOBER 30th 2023

Return of the Cask?

Just lately we have seen a rising trend in the realm of craft cask beer. These aren't your typical English bitters, however, but instead are exceptional, high-hopped craft beers, boasting a lower ABV than your average craft beer. What sets them apart? They are served exclusively in casks, adding a unique dimension to your beer experience.

While these new cask beers may not be as easy to find in your local pub or taproom at the moment, stumbling upon one is like uncovering a hidden gem. So, when you do come across a venue offering these exceptional cask creations, make sure to seize the opportunity and savour the flavour!

Cheers,

The TWICB Team

Under-25 Club

There is no doubt that the future of Craft Beer (and everything else, for that matter) depends on the younger generations. Therefore it was great to see Brewdog announce this week that 18-25 YOs now get 50% off both food and beer after 4pm on a Sunday. Let's hope this is a huge success in bringing more younger drinkers into Craft Beer.

Experience & Tolerance

Jeff Alworth won't mind us saying that it has been a while since he would have qualified for the 18-25's Club, but with age comes experience and tolerance (at least for some...) Jeff says that he has come to terms with people "liking what they like" when it comes to beer, and he is just fine with that.

US Craft Beer Imports Drop

Vinepair digs into the fact that there is less US Craft Beer to be found in the UK Taprooms and Bottle Shops than there was a year or two ago. This is partly due to challenges with price and freshness, but we think it is mainly due to the fact that UK Craft Beer is so good now that we don't need so many imports.

Taproom Review

ROB C
TWICB CO-FOUNDER

Verdant Brewing Co.

30, Parkengue Kernick Industrial Estate, Penryn TR10 9EP

If you have been a fan of UK Craft Beer for a while, it is a pretty good bet that at some point (unless you live in the very far Southwest of Cornwall) you have wished that Verdant was a bit easier to get to.

Verdant are based just outside the picturesque village of Penryn, 33 miles from Land's End. As a result, unless you happen to be holidaying in Southwest Cornwall, any visit you make to Verdant is an intentional trip, verging on a pilgrimage. The owners realise this, and so they have made every effort to make the Taproom experience special, from the welcome that you receive, to the outstanding choice of beer and food, to the environment and entertainment, even as far as the view you behold on your way to the bathrooms!

The Taproom was built during lockdown, funded by an investment round, and is as nice an environment as any you will find within the UK Craft Beer scene.

Although the Taproom occupies a corner of the Brewery unit, it was built to be an enclosed space (albeit with windows onto the Brewery itself) heated by a wood-burner stove in winter, and containing a high-quality sound system for DJs and other entertainment. Inside there is a combination of high-top and regular tables that can easily seat 100 people. On the bar there are 16 keg and 4 cask beers, most of which were Verdant's own, with a few Gipsy Hill guest beers thrown in at the time of my visit.

Taproom Review

Behind the bar there is a large pizza oven, that was turning around pizza orders at impressive speed.

Although it was a very wet day when I was there, normally the weather is decent in Cornwall, and as such there is outdoor seating for at least another hundred people, under large sunshades.

Just about every weekend there are DJs booked on Friday or Saturday nights, as well as a variety of other live entertainment.

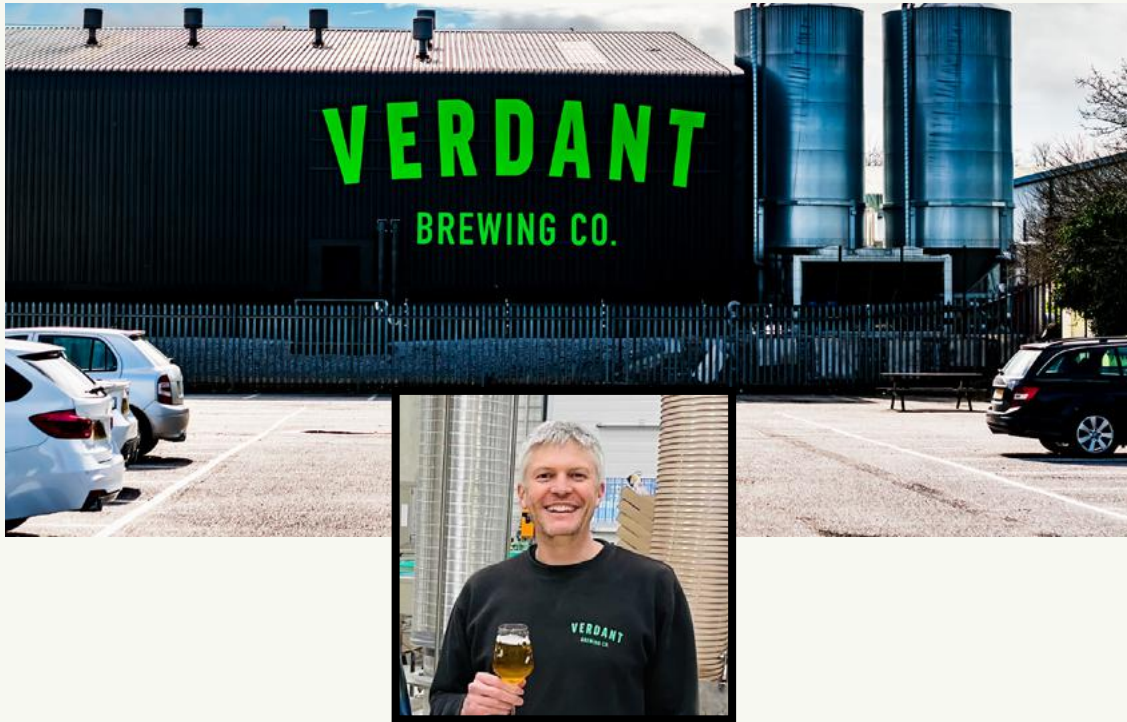

If you have yet to experience a trip to Verdant, we strongly recommend that you get your diary out and start plotting a trip to Penryn without delay!

The Podcast with Verdant Brewing Co.

You can listen to the Podcast by downloading through the normal channels, including Apple and Spotify from 4am Monday.

EPISODE 177 - VERDANT BREWING CO.

We are delighted to welcome to the podcast James, the Head Brewer and Co. Founder of Verdant Brewing Co, based in Penryn, Cornwall. Verdant began life back in Autumn 2014 when homebrewers Adam and James teamed up with Rich to craft US-inspired beers that weren't available locally. Since then the team has continued to grow alongside the demand for their beer!
