Save The Grumpy Goat

A Reading Institution

The Grumpy Goat, a cherished local business in Reading, UK, is facing an imminent threat of closure due to a decision made by its private landlord. This is not just about a business; it's about preserving the heart and soul of our community. The Grumpy Goat has been more than just a provider of fine produce; it has been central to organising community events that bring us together, such as Cheese Fest and the Craft Theory festival.

The potential closure of this establishment would not only affect its dedicated staff but also have far-reaching impacts on our local economy and social fabric. Small businesses like the Grumpy Goat contribute significantly to the UK economy - they account for three-fifths of employment in the private sector (source: Federation of Small Businesses). Moreover, they foster community spirit and contribute to making towns like ours unique.

We cannot stand by while such an integral part of our community is threatened with extinction. We urge those in power to reconsider this decision and work towards solutions that will allow The Grumpy Goat to continue serving its loyal customers and enriching our town's culture.

Join us in standing up for small businesses, for our community, and specifically for saving The Grumpy Goat from closure.
